One who wants to get joy of book reading especially in very less time can go for it. About the Book Novelist, archaeologist, essayist, and in all three departments one of the greatest masters of French style of his century, Prosper Mrime was born in Paris on September 23, 1803. The son of a painter, Mrime was intended for the law, but at the age of twenty-two achieved fame as the author of a number of plays purporting to be translations from the Spanish. From that time until his death at Cannes on September 23, 1870, a brilliant series of plays, essays, novels, and historical and archaeological works poured from his fertile pen. Altogether he wrote about a score of tales, and it is on these and on his Letters to an Unknown that Mrimes fame depends. His first story to win universal recognition was Colombo, in 1830. Seventeen years later appeared his Carmen, the Power of Love, of which Taine, in his celebrated essay on the work, says, Many dissertations on our primitive savage methods, many knowing treatises like Schopenhauers on the metaphysics of love and death, cannot compare to the hundred pages of Carmen.
