Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from St. Catherine De Ricci: Her Life, Her Letters, Her Community St Catherine De Ricci, one of the three canonized Dominican women of the Third Order, holds a different position from that of either her great predecessor and namesake of Siena or the Saint of the New World who was a little girl when she died, Rose of Lima. These two were Tertiaries in the strict sense of the word, remaining inmates of their respective parents houses to the end of their lives. St Catherine de Ricci, on the contrary, was not only a conventual tertiary, but she belonged to a community which, although of the Third Order, was enclosed behind a grille and led a strictly contemplative life. Its members had nothing to do with hospitals, orphanages, schools, or any kind of charitable institutions, doing no active work except what was absolutely needful for their own support: - such as needlework or confectionery, etc., which they sold; and even these occupations were lessened as far as possible under Catherines rule, to give more time for...
