Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Proceedings of the Annual Convention: Of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists The fourteenth annual meeting of the Society of American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturists began at Omaha, this day. The interior of the Convention headquarters, in the First Congregational Church, was beautifully adorned with groups of decorative plants. The sessions were held in the main auditorium, and the adjoining church parlors were utilized, at intervals, for committee meetings and clerical work. The trade exhibition was located in the basement, and every available foot of space was occupied by the various exhibits. The preliminaries to the formal business of the Convention were opened at 10.30 a.m. by Vice-President A. Donaghue, Sr., who was also chairman of the Reception Committee of the Nebraska and Iowa Florists Society. After organ music, prayer was offered by Rev. Thomas J.Mack.w, of Omaha. In his invocation, he prayed for the sunlight of the Divine love upon those who improve the beautiful plants and flowers of Gods creation, that their hearts may blossom and expand toward each other and that they themselves may improve and grow to the stature of perfect men. A Welcome To Omaha And A Reseonse. Hon. Frank E. Moores, Mayor of the city of Omaha, being introduced, cordially welcomed the Convention to Omaha in an eloquent and humorous speech, which was much applauded.
